

Financial Seminars—November 29

You must be registered for the annual meeting in order to sign up for a Saturday seminar or workshop. Register online or use the Registration and Housing Form 1 on page 50.

9:30 AM – 12:30 PM (PS01)

Effective Estate Planning Strategies $139
Barry Rubenstein, BS, JD, LLM

This course will help attendees assess the critical characteristics of numerous estate plans, techniques, and vital issues while constructing an effective estate planning strategy to minimize death taxes and maximize transfer of wealth to subsequent generations. Topics to be discussed include:

- Understanding the Fundamentals of Gift and Estate Taxes
- Creating Tax-Advantaged Funds for Children's College Expenses
- The Uses and Abuses of Life Insurance
- Understanding Probate and How to Avoid It
- Maximizing Benefits of Family Gifts, Trusts and Business Relationships
- Dealing with Assets in a Qualified Retirement Plan
- Protecting Assets from Collectors

Textbook included.

1:30 PM – 5:30 PM (PS11)

Effective Investment Strategies $169
J. Michael Moody, MBA

In this course, attendees will learn to distinguish the advantages, disadvantages, benefits, and risks of numerous investment vehicles, including stocks, mutual funds, real estate, tax-advantaged investments, and bonds, will be analyzed. Attendees will learn to match the appropriate investment to specific investment goals. Topics to be addressed include:

- Once-Sleepy Muni Bonds Offer Some Terrific Bargains
- What Money Managers Don't Tell You About Exchange Traded Funds
- Investments for Current Income, Growth or Tax Advantages
- Why Mutual Funds Have Failed to Provide Reasonable Returns
- 5 Investments that Calm Anxieties When a Recession Looms
- Investing in Real Estate Without Needing a Million Dollars
- Sell Strategy that Provides Infinite Upside and Protected Downside

Textbook included.

Save! Register for Both Financial Seminars (PS21) $289

Grantsmanship Workshop

Monday, December 1,
 1:30–5:30 PM (PS53)

NIH Grantsmanship Workshop no fee
Facilitated by Belinda Seto, PhD

Speakers:
Thomas Yankeelov, PhD
Clare Tempany-Afdhal, MD
Lee Rosen, PhD
William Heetderks, MD, PhD

This workshop covers grantwriting techniques, from concept development to submission and the NIH review process. It also provides an opportunity to experience a mock study section. Speakers will address basic applications, K awards and the NIH grant application experience.

Register for Courses

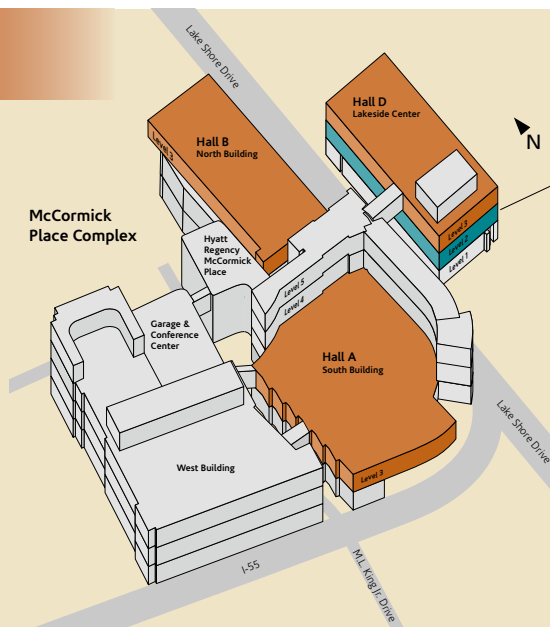

Register using Form 2 on page 51. If you are already registered, go to RSNA.org/register to add courses online.

New Technical Exhibition Layout

At RSNA 2008, the Technical Exhibition will include Hall D (Lakeside Center) as well as Hall A (South Building) and Hall B (North Building). The new arrangement allows RSNA to accommodate the growing number of exhibiting companies while offering more space to current exhibitors. In addition, large food outlets will be located in all three exhibit halls.

As always, the Technical Exhibition will feature:

- World's largest exhibition of radiology products and services
- 700 leading manufacturers, suppliers, and developers
- Latest medical technology
- New technologies and ideas

New Location for Lakeside Learning Center

Scientific posters, education exhibits and other educational content will move down one floor to Hall E, Level 2 across from the Arie Crown Theater.